FOR 599/699

September 12-23, 2005

Required Reading

These sources are equally relevant to each of the communities we'll be visiting. They've been organized by community only to divide up the reading load a bit. Try and stay ahead of the load by completing the associated readings before or at least during each community visit.

Note: OSU Bookstore has ordered additional copies of the required text, Communities and Forests, and the book is also available through Amazon.com. All other readings are available in the class reader which is on file in the Forestry Self Learning Center, second floor, Peavy Hall. You may check the reader out to make copies. Some readings are also available on the class website.
